MAN MOONS CAR & IT RUNS HIM OVER!

By HENRY WEBER

A 19-year-old man was slammed from here to the hereafter when the car he was mooning on a busy highway mowed him down!

The auto that rear-ended Jesus Lopez on California's Pacific Coast Highway near Los Angeles spun him completely around.

A second car came along and hit him with a force that ripped the oil pan off the engine of the car.

"What was he doing in the highway? Who knows?" said Police Investigator John Gibson of the Los Angeles Police Department.

"Witnesses said that he was standing in the highway with his pants down exposing his behind to traffic.

"He was bent over with his back to the first car that came along so he probably never knew what hit him."

Investigator Gibson said both cars were going about 45 m.p.h., which is the legal limit on the dark beachfront highway, when they hit Lopez. No charges will be filed in connection with the young man's death, the cop said.

WHEN teen Jesus Lopez dropped his pants on a busy highway he was mowed down by a passing car.

Navy ship in hot water — for towing a skier!

A Navy warship made nautical history but sailed into troubled waters when it revved up its powerful engines to pull a water-skier.

"None of us could believe our eyes when we saw this great big boat pulling a skier," said Craig Fancy, whose boat was swamped in the wake of the bigger ship.

The HMS Pursuer was sailing on the Colne River near Colchester, England, when the crew of a passing speedboat issued a challenge the sailors couldn't refuse.

"The crew bet the sailors the Pursuer could not tow a water-skier. To the amazement of those watching from shore, the Pursuer got up to about 20 knots towing a skier, Essex Marine Police. But warship skipper Lt. Cmdr. Christopher Ord didn't realize what would happen when the tremendous wash from the wake of the 70-foot-long, 50-ton vessel hit the banks of the river.

A four-foot wave sent Fancy's speedboat crashing against his leg.

"I was badly hurt but the members of the Navy crew who were on shore just laughed and said it was a unique occasion," said Fancy, and we are planning to sue the Royal Navy for the injury to my leg and damage to my boat."

Mom tracks down man accused of stabbing her boy

With vengeance seething in her heart, angry mom Carla Maciel searched the shadowy streets where addicts and pushers deal and vagrants sleep — until she found the man accused of stabbing her son!

Armed only with a tip from a witness and a rage that overpowered her fear, the 32-year-old mom tracked her quarry through one of the most crime-infested ghettos of Los Angeles.

And less than 24 hours after her 14-year-old son Nathan was savagely stabbed in the chest, Paul Turner, a 50-year-old drifter from Kansas, was in the L.A. jail charged with attempted murder.

"I don't feel like a hero," the persistent mom said as she sat at Nathan's bedside in Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. "I just feel like a mom.

"I haven't talked to one mother or father who wouldn't have done what I did. If you have to risk your life for your kids, you risk your life."

When she finally found Turner, she didn't try to take him on her own. Instead, she called the cops who quickly nabbed him and led him away in handcuffs.

"I became so enraged when I saw him that I went temporarily insane," she said. "If I'd have had a weapon, I'd have used it, make no mistake about that."

Her nightmare began when Nathan was stabbed in a park across the street from their home in Torrance, a middle-class Los Angeles suburb.

When cops called Mrs. Maciel at work, she drove "like a maniac" to the hospital to see her son.

"I was hysterical. No one told me if Nathan was alive or dead," she recalled. "It felt like someone was ripping something out of my body. I was afraid he might die before I even saw him."

After Nathan's condition improved, she and roommate Violet Brown went to the park looking for clues or information.

Vagrants who had befriended her son told her the attacker was a middle-age derelict named Paul who hangs out in a seedy section of the city.

"All of my neighbors that have any guts took off on their own," said Mrs. Maciel, a hospital technician. "We're a very close neighborhood."

Though she was terrified, she launched the manhunt because she thought not enough was being done.

"This case wasn't the highest priority," she explained. "But for me it was the highest priority. This crazy man stabbed my son for no reason."

The search took her into the wee hours in an area teeming with crime and violence.

"The scariest of scary people were out there," she said.

She insists her actions were nothing remarkable. But Nathan, now recovering from his chest wound, thinks his mom is being modest.

"She's a hero to me," he said.

PAUL TURNER is charged with attempted murder.

HERO: Carla Maciel nabbed the man cops say stabbed her son, Nathan, right. The teen is recovering from his wound.

AMERICA'S YOUNGEST MURDER SUSPECT

By SUSAN JIMISON

Cameron Kocher, 10, is back in school like other kids his age and earning merit badges in his Cub Scout group — even though he's the youngest murder suspect ever to face trial in an adult court!

The Kunkletown, Pa., fifth grader is out on $50,000 bond, charged with using his father's deer-hunting rifle last March to shoot and kill little Jessica Carr, 7. He faces trial early next year and could get life imprisonment if he's convicted of the crime.

Although cops believe Cameron is a cold-blooded killer who purposefully drew a bead on little Jessica, many members of the boy's community urge leniency for the boy. They say he's too young to understand what he did, if he did indeed shoot Jessica, and too young to suffer for the rest of his life for a mistake made when he was just 9.

"The family's church supports them. Cameron's Cub Scout troop asked him to be a member again this year," the boy's attorney, Charles Hansford, told The NEWS.

"Cameron's going to a private school and he's doing fine.

"People are disturbed, confused by this tragedy. Cameron doesn't understand — he's just a child. He was playing hunter when he took that gun. There was no willful intent. When a 9-year-old does something like murder, how can he stand in the docket like a 28-year-old man? It just doesn't make sense."

But officials have pressed murder charges against Cameron and insisted he be tried as an adult because they believe his crime was premeditated. They say the boy was angry when a neighbor ordered him to stop playing a video game, and went home and unlocked his father's gun cabinet. Then, according to police, the boy took out a .35-caliber hunting rifle with a 20-power scope, unlocked the ammunition drawer and loaded the gun, unlocked a window, opened it and removed the window screen.

Seconds later Jessica, who was playing on a snowmobile outside the neighbor's house, slumped onto the snow, a bullet hole in her side. She died moments later. When Cameron saw her body, he told his friends, "Don't think about it and you won't be sad," according to court testimony.

At first, the boy denied knowledge of the shooting, police say, but later he blurted out, "It was all a terrible mistake."

Cameron was arrested seven hours after Jessica's death and was read his rights as he sat on his mother's lap. "I don't know how to prepare him," the boy's attorney said. "He doesn't understand the concept of murder and doesn't fully understand the concept of death. How do you talk to a 10-year-old about whether to plead guilty or not guilty?

"Cameron's teachers, his Cub Scout leaders, his godparents — all testified he is an excellent student, a good, obedient child who was never in trouble. He's all boy, the kind of kid with sunshine in his hair. It's a tragedy."

Even the prosecutor who is trying Cameron for murder admits he's not sure what the state should do with the boy.

And Jessica's own mother, Donna Carr, says she doesn't know how to react to her daughter's suspected killer.

"The more I think about it, the more it just doesn't make sense," she said.

Incredible weight-loss plan will add years to your life!

LIVE TO 100 ON AMAZING RUSSIAN DIET

By BEATRICE DEXTER

Soviet scientists have perfected a diet that flushes out body fat and can help you live to be 100 or older!

The no-hunger diet features hearty helpings of Russian staples like potatoes and yogurt and even includes delicious Western favorites like poultry, fish, salads, rolls, peanut butter, jelly and fresh fruits.

The amazing plan is based on the eating habits of citizens in the Soviet Union's Republic of Georgia, where few people are fat and most live healthy, happy lives until age 100 or beyond.

By adding Western foods to the basic Georgian diet the researchers found that a test group of 5,000 obese Russians slimmed down at a rate of seven pounds a week until they reached their ideal body weight.

SOVIET Dr. Ivan Mikaelovich says a diet based on yogurt, potatoes and tea will significantly increase your life span.

They managed to maintain that ideal weight while continuing on the diet and also reported feeling stronger and healthier than at any other time in their lives.

"By taking advantage of the basic elements of the traditional Georgian diet we were able to devise a plan with remarkable qualities," Dr. Ivan Mikaelovich told the Soviet Congress of Health Workers, in Moscow.

"What's more, the low-fat content of the diet promises to help eliminate early deaths due to obesity and significantly increase average life span.

"We have discovered that patients who switch to this diet find it so satisfying they can continue it indefinitely. There is no backsliding — dieters lose weight and keep it off permanently."

Word of the remarkable Russian regimen filtered to the West a few weeks ago after the effects of Glasnost on Russian and Western scientists improved the flow of information. A copy of the diet was received and translated by a Swiss nutritionist a few days ago and is reproduced for NEWS readers below.

"We're incredibly excited about this diet," said Adolph Rausbeim, the Geneva dietician who translated the work.

Nutritionist Sally Stricklen-Meers of Atlanta says the low-fat, low-calorie Russian diet appears to be sound but advised anyone who wishes to try it to first consult their physician.

"The diet certainly appears to be based on sound dietary principles and would likely help anyone lose weight safely," said the expert.

"It is a low-fat diet, which could reduce cholesterol levels and lessen the potential for heart disease.

"That alone could lead to the longer life spans that the Russians are claiming for this diet."

Follow this menu — and shed 7 pounds a week

Remember to check with your doctor before beginning any diet — then try this Soviet weight-slasher. You should lose a pound a day if you follow the menu plan below.

You have to REALLY want to get hitched in this African tribe

THE bride's family tortures her future groom as a test.

It's hell getting married in Kenya, where the bride's family tortures her husband-to-be for weeks to make sure he's "good enough" for their little girl!

They pinch, punch, kick, curse, ridicule and throw dirt on the man every chance they get. And if he gets mad or fights back, the wedding is off.

By HENRY WEBER

"People in civilized countries think mothers-in-law are unbearable but they've never seen anything like this," Dr. Michel Roth, the French anthropologist, told newsmen in Paris. "It's a very stern test of character, the sternest I've ever seen. It's a miracle some of these poor men aren't killed."

The torture of husbands-to-be is seen throughout Kenya but is primarily practiced by the Luhya, the East African country's third largest tribe.

They believe it is their right to test a bridegroom's emotional fitness in any manner they choose.

That usually means they treat the poor guy like a mortal enemy — or worse.

"Getting married was the most humiliating experience of my life," Lewis Ledla, who recently tied the knot with wife Becca, told Dr. Roth.

"Her family invited me out to dinner and spit on me when I sat down to eat. They threw dirt in my eyes and hit me with their fists.

"I tried to hide from them for the next few weeks.

"But they kept finding me. And each time they did I was the victim of another one of their dirty tricks.

"An hour before the wedding Becca's parents crept up behind me and pulled down my pants in church."

Said Dr. Roth: "Abusing grooms is a tradition several hundred years old. It is the right and duty of the bride's family to punish the man she wants to marry.

"Oddly enough, the new groom is treated with great respect after he makes it down the aisle."

WHERE'S MY SON?

Shattered mother of AIDS victim sues over empty coffin

A GRIEVING mom was shocked to learn that her son's body wasn't in his coffin. "You threw him around like a piece of meat," she told the undertaker.

By JACK ALEXANDER

A heartbroken mom claims she grieved over her son's closed coffin at a funeral but found out later his corpse wasn't even in it — because he died of AIDS.

The distraught mother alleges in a lawsuit that mortician John M. Price stood by silently as her family listened to organ music and a eulogy by a preacher delivered over an empty coffin.

Identified only as "Jane Doe," the tearful mother claims that Price didn't want to soil his hands with the AIDS-riddled body and kept it outside his funeral parlor.

Price said he would have to fumigate the whole funeral home if he had brought the body inside, according to the suit, filed in Philadelphia.

Her son, identified only as "John Doe," died of the disease after a long illness. His mother asked Price to handle the funeral arrangements and gave him $2,000.

Instead of taking the corpse to his funeral home, Price kept it at a nearby Center City hospital morgue until the day of the funeral, the suit said.

None of the grieving relatives realized the coffin was empty until after the funeral.

"The mother and other family members climbed in the second car in the funeral procession and waited for pallbearers to bring out the casket," said attorney Andrew Chirls.

But that didn't happen.

"Aren't you bringing the casket out?" the deceased's brother asked the undertaker. He was told the body was already in the hearse, said Chirls.

"We allege the corpse was placed in the hearse in a coffin identical to the one inside the chapel, which was empty," said Chirls.

The dead man's mother was heartsick when she found out.

"My son wasn't a bum. He was a college graduate, and you threw him around like a piece of meat," she told Price.

The suit alleges that Price charged $225 for "treatment of remains" even though the body wasn't embalmed. Price told the family that state law required coffins of AIDS victims to be closed and that they be buried in special garments.

"No such laws exist even though Price charged her $125 for special clothes for the corpse," said lawyer Chirls.

Pagan in a snit

A pagan priest is hopping mad because customs agents took his ceremonial dagger and won't give it back.

Vincent Harrietha, 19, was returning to Brantford, Canada, from a pagan festival in Logan, Ohio, when customs agents took the dagger from his car.

Harrietha said he will sue Canadian customs officials to retrieve his dagger, which he said is a phallic symbol representing his faith's male deity and is dipped into a chalice of wine during ceremonies.

Dentist takes revenge on man who crashed into her car

OUCH! OUCH!

. . . by pulling 5 teeth — without anesthetic!

By IRWIN FISHER

A dentist got back at the man who crashed into her car by pulling five of his teeth with hardly any anesthetic!

Dr. Janine Brooks had to wait six years to make the guy pay for hitting her van and refusing to pay for the damage in 1983.

But when the misguided driver marched into Dr. Brooks' office with a mouthful of aching teeth earlier this month, she was ready.

The delighted dentist gave him a touch of Novocain and then wrenched out five abscessed teeth one by one.

"He was convicted and damages were awarded to me after he hit my van. But the creep refused to pay, leaving me with the option to prosecute privately or pay for the repairs myself," Dr. Brooks of Leominster, England, told reporters. "I was — needless to say — furious!"

The man, who was not identified, didn't recognize the dentist when he made an appointment with her office six years after the accident.

But she knew him instantly — and hatched a plan to extract her sweet revenge.

"He was very concerned about pain. He asked me if it would hurt," she said.

"I said, 'Oh no, I'll numb them first.' I did give him some local anesthetic. But certainly not enough.

"Those five extractions hurt like hell and I took my time."

Dr. Brooks said she felt like a million bucks while slowly tugging on five teeth from the moaning patient's mouth.

"I felt wonderful."

"The unexpected coincidence and his total lack of knowledge that revenge was mine . . . it didn't matter that he never knew — I did. When you talk about revenge, that's enough.

"I always smile when I think about it," she said.

OUCH! OUCH!

VALIANT
Raped jogger runs again

A young woman who was gang raped and beaten in New York City's Central Park is out of the hospital and jogging again.

The 28-year-old investment banker is recuperating at the Gaylord Rehabilitation Hospital in Wallingford, Conn.

She was attacked while jogging in the park on April 19, beaten unconscious and left for dead. Six youths have been charged in the savage assault.

"She jogged a couple of times around the facility," said Dr. Craig Foster, a plastic surgeon who operated on the woman to correct her double vision.

"She'll be able to take care of herself and be employed someday," said Dr. Foster.

Bird sparks fire

A bird with a nasty cigarette habit caused a house fire that resulted in $2,500 in damages!

The bird carried a lighted cigarette butt into its nest on the porch of the house in Jeannette, Pa.

"The bird definitely started the blaze," said fire fighter Robert Carter.

How to make your sex life purr like a kitten

If your sex life isn't purring along on all eight cylinders, a Los Angeles psychologist has the tune-up remedy for you.

"Both men and women make common mistakes when dealing with each other in sex," says Dr. Barbara De Angelis, author of How to Make Love All the Time (Bantam-Doubleday-Dell, $6.95).

Here are her tips on how to correct your mistakes and put more pizzazz into sex:

SECRETS FOR WOMEN

● Realize what having sex means to a man. He's doing more than asking for sex when he makes an overture — he's saying, "Accept me. Make me feel wanted."

● Don't criticize. He hears you saying, "You've failed." If you feel it necessary to correct him, express yourself with love and tenderness.

● Show your sexual side. Men like women who like sex. Ask your partner to make love to you. Then show him how much you love it.

● Be fun to be with, not serious. Laugh and reveal your sense of humor. Serious-minded women make men uneasy.

● Don't discard your femininity. Men like the feminine side of women. Being feminine doesn't mean you can't be assertive and independent.

● Don't hide your accomplishments from a man just to make him feel smarter. Men are attracted to women who possess competence.

SECRETS FOR MEN

● Women love to be seduced, even in committed relationships — it makes them feel wanted.

● Talk during love-making. Women are turned on when you express how you feel about them during sex, what you want to do to them and what you're feeling yourself.

● Make sure she's ready — women don't like to be rushed. They take longer than men.

● Your partner will be receptive to you if you don't flirt with other women.

Females need to feel emotionally secure to become fully aroused.

● Don't take a woman for granted — she needs verbal appreciation and attention. Make your union a continual love affair.

Burglars pick wrong victim

Burglars who tried to swipe an air conditioner picked the wrong apartment — it belonged to a cop, and he was staking it out.

Matthew "Bump" Mitchell, a police sergeant in Delray Beach, Fla., waited for the crooks to return after he found his vacant rental apartment had been broken into. Later that night he caught the punks when they came back for the air conditioner.

Commie boss WAS crazy over Vanna, but now . . .

FIDEL CASTRO IS MADLY IN LOVE WITH ROSEANNE

Kooky Cuban kingpin Fidel Castro has washed his hands of svelte Vanna White — and fallen head over heels in love with roly-poly Roseanne Barr!

The tough-talking tyrant has installed a fancy new satellite dish outside his Havana home to make sure he never misses a minute of the waddling comic's hit show Roseanne. And he tapes every episode so he can watch rotund Rosie strut her stuff over and over again — often into the wee hours of the morning.

"Fidel is mooning around like a schoolboy with his first crush," said a former Castro confidante recently exiled to Mexico City.

"He calls Roseanne his great big bundle of love, and he watches her show until he's so bleary-eyed he can barely see. He slaps his knee and roars with laughter every time she opens her mouth.

"He told me he dreams of the day he can hold the lady in his arms — and he said he may someday marry her."

Two years ago the love-crazed Commie was so smitten with letter-perfect Vanna White that he sat glued to Wheel of Fortune tapes for hours on end. But

. . . & wants to marry her!

Dennis Quaid — ROCK STAR?

Critics snicker as actor takes up singing career

Music-crazy Dennis Quaid wants to put his movie career on ice and devote full-time to rock 'n' roll — but folks who've heard him sing are convinced the old boy's howling up the wrong tree.

The lady-killing leading man played rocker Jerry Lee Lewis in the box-office flop Great Balls of Fire, but killjoy critics say he sounds like a hoary Elvis Presley impersonator when he takes the stage with his band, The Eclectics. "Bluesy drivel," one reviewer branded Quaid's offering.

"Well, I don't agree," tinny-voiced Denny said of the chilling criticism. "Of course, it hurts, but at the same time, you know, I'm going to keep going."

And he is building a following of sorts among starry-eyed gals who don't mind the lease little bit if a hunk can't hit all the notes. — Miami Herald.

Dennis Quaid, right, with Jerry Lee Lewis.

the peakrained potentate reportedly kicked the Vanna habit — and even dismantled his old satellite dish — after cohorts convinced him his weird obsession was driving him absolutely bananas.

"Fidel says he's all through with Vanna, that she's history as far as he's concerned," his former comrade revealed this week.

"He says Vanna's too skinny for him and he wants someone with a little more meat on her bones.

"And Roseanne fits the bill very nicely."

Roseanne's manager Arlynn Rothberg said she and her client had been unaware of flaky Fidel's infatuation with the comedienne.

"That's great," she said with a laugh. "We know Prince Charles and Princess Di were fans, so she's building a real following in high places." — Special to Weekly World News.

Hollywood hunk Gregory Harrison says he's kicked the cocaine habit — after shoving more than $700,000 worth of white powder up his nose.

The former Trapper John, M.D. star took the cure at the Betty Ford Clinic after realizing he was "sitting in the back seat of my addiction and the devil was driving."

Easygoing Greg says when he was flying high on coke, "I felt more intelligent, more handsome, more creative, witty and charming. My acting didn't suffer for a long time. It's that convincing an illusion.

"But it's very insidious. It lets you get away with it just enough times to be convinced that you will always get away with it." — Chicago Sun-Times

Gregory Harrison says 'NO' to drugs — finally!

Phyllis Diller, who's had her mug remodeled by plastic surgeons 17 times, says all that nipping and tucking began after she got a good look at herself on an old Sonny and Cher show.

"I had a role where I played a witchy type, a black dress, real mean," recalls fun-loving Phyll.

"In one shot, I looked at myself on the screen and something was bulging out of my chin. And I thought, 'What is that?' And it wound up to be my neck." — Miami Herald.

Oldie-but-goodie Jimmy Stewart may be the only guy in the world who could get away with publishing a book of poetry with just four teeny-weeny poems in it.

The tinseltown legend's new tome called Jimmy Stewart and His Poems is fleshed out with tales of the incidents that inspired his verses.

The aging Oscar winner admits he's written only eight poems in his 81 years, "and a couple of them had only four lines."

The rhymes in Jimmy's book celebrate such unlikely subjects as a movie camera attacked by a hyena in Nairobi, his dead dog Bess and the tricky top step of an Argentine hotel. —Los Angeles Times.

Catty comedienne Joan Rivers says she despises dating and doesn't think she'll ever get hitched again.

"I don't have to," says jibe-tossing Joan. "I'm very happy in my business. I support myself."

The funny gal's long-time hubby Edgar Rosenberg killed himself with Valium and booze two years ago and since then Joan's tried her hand at the dating game.

"I find it horrendous. I hate it," she says. "I hate every minute of it. I hate eating breath mints all night." — Toronto Sunday Star.

Country curio Dolly Parton loves her fans, but . . .

"Sometimes there are people that get on your nerves, pulling and tugging at you when you don't feel like being pulled and tugged at," she admits.

"And you'd just like to say, 'Will you get out of my face, you ugly woman, and take them bratty kids with you?'

"But you don't, because it's not their problem that you don't feel good." — Palm Beach Post

Family returns from vacation to find their broken-down home all fixed up

Good neighbors

'The Lord has blessed us'

THE Good Samaritans who did all the work on the house stand in the front lawn. The Williams family is in the foreground.

By DICK DONOVAN

When Steve and Debbi Williams and their six kids returned from a week-long camping trip they got the surprise of their lives — their "disaster" home had been transformed into a dream house!

Their families, friends and neighbors had secretly banded together to thoroughly renovate the Williams' 30-year-old house in Fresno, Calif., while they were away.

They redecorated and repaired the house in just a week and the transformation was so startling, the Williamses thought they were in the wrong house!

"Mom, we're in the wrong house," their 11-year-old daughter Whitney said as she gazed at the unfamiliar surroundings. "I'm positive this isn't our house."

The team of Good Samaritans had replaced broken windows and torn screens, repaired broken appliances, painted and papered the walls and trim, hung new curtains and mini blinds and covered the floors with new carpeting.

The Williamses now have plenty of hot water, thanks to a new heater. They don't have to turn the kitchen faucet on and off with pliers. New latches now keep cabinets tightly closed instead of ajar.

Four of the boys have new bunk beds and faulty wiring in the dishwasher and garbage disposal have been repaired. "We were just overwhelmed," Debbi told The NEWS. "They had planned it for so long, yet we never had a clue. They did what we just didn't have the money to do for ourselves. When we left on our trip, they followed us until we were out of town. They even videotaped us leaving, but we never saw them. Then they came straight back to our house and started working.

"They even hired a man to fix our TV. And after he did the job he wouldn't take any money for it when he found out what they were doing. He said, 'I want to be a part of it.'"

In all, about 25 people took part in the week-long renovation project, not because they felt they had to do it, but because it was something they really wanted to do.

Feeding and clothing a family of eight on an insurance agent's income doesn't leave much left over for home repairs.

"The Lord has blessed us, and we wanted to bless others," Debbi's mom, Marge Ainley, explained.

THRILLED mom Debbi Williams came home to a renovated house.

Teen dies in tiff over clothes

A teenage girl died of injuries after being punched by four of her girlfriends — during a squabble over borrowed clothes.

The brutal beating which led to the death of Anita Moore, 13, occurred in her Spartanburg, S.C., home while her dad was in another room.

Anita's father, George Moore, said four of her girlfriends argued over Anita's clothes. The girls often swapped clothes and one girl claimed some of her clothes hadn't been returned, he said.

"It was, from the start, very intense," said Moore. "They were struggling. It was a pretty good little scrap. A bunch of them were pushing and shoving."

At least one girl kicked Anita before leaving when Moore threatened to call police. Anita was taken to a hospital and died five hours later.

Cops don't know the cause of death.

Moore didn't know the identity of the four girls.

French TV star wants to share the secret that brought her luck.

Daniele Gilbert: "My secret can solve your problems in 24 hours flat."

Think you have problems? I remember the day in 1981 when I lost my TV job. I remember that black period when nothing was going right for me. I remember those times when it was hard at the end of the month. Believe me, I know what it means to be chased by bad luck.

Today, everything is going wonderfully well. Maybe you have seen my photograph on magazine covers.

I have been written up in the press. I've returned to television. I have just signed several big contracts. I miraculously escaped injury in a terrible automobile accident.

Look at this ring worn by Daniele Gilbert. It's the talisman (3,000 years old) worn by the Pharaohs of ancient Egypt. It has brought great luck to Daniele Gilbert. If you act quickly, you can wear this same talisman free for 30 days. But there is only one condition...

Where does such luck come from so suddenly?

I'm going to tell you in a moment. But first, let me ask you a question. Do I look like the kind of person who would buy talismans or good luck charms?

Well, I assure you, I am not. In fact, I've always been very skeptical about things that are supposed to bring you luck or help you win the lottery.

But then all changed when I learned about the legendary Ring of Re.

I make some inquiries.

Just discovered that many men and women had found luck as soon as they started wearing the Ring of Re. They won contests or the lottery, often large amounts of money, or they received unexpected inheritances, or benefited from lucky events at work, in their educational life, or down inside.

I can tell you that all these things troubled me. I wanted to know more about it in order to explain the mysterious powers of the Ring of Re.

I learned that this ring was the exact reproduction of an ancient piece of Egyptian jewelry that was found in the last century. It was worn many centuries ago by the Pharaohs, kings and other very highly-placed people.

This ring had the reputation of protecting everyone who wore it from bad luck. It had the reputation of advancing good luck in all the games of chance of that period. There is no doubt that the geometric forms shown in relief on the ring are directly related to the secrets of its supernatural powers. So far as I know, there is no rational explanation. But it would seem that the form and the arrangement of the geometric figures are only here a protective influence, but also secretly and psychic and really use invisible powers. That is what many clairvoyants and seers such as A. Merlin spectacular divinations, Jacques La Mesa (former physicist and others, as well, have concluded.

I was more and more troubled by these questions.

I said to myself, "Can all these reputable persons, competent specialists be wrong? It is simple, remember that thousands of people suddenly find themselves really lucky!"

Finally, I made my decision. I ordered the Ring of Re. I had nothing to lose since I could try this ring free of charge for 30 days as you can, if you want me. They had told me: "If no particularly lucky event happens within 30 days, all you have to do is return the ring and it won't cost you anything."

The test is true...

I kept the ring.

The first time I put it on my finger, I felt a strange sensation came over me, like a powerful force.

In the days went by, my life didn't seem particularly improved. But then I had that horrifying automobile accident. I got out alive, uninjured. From a car that had become a flattened scrap heap. I am certain I would no longer be in this world if it hadn't been for the Ring of Re. I could feel that it was protecting me.

Is this or in the same way you can feel a physical sensation. I am. I had taken great. I would not want to be without it today for anything in the world. From then on, I have worn it all the time.

The reason I agreed to tell my story is to allow people with emotional or money problems to learn of an effective, accessible means which has been proven throughout the centuries.

The role of the Ring of Re is to protect the person wearing it from any attack (evil neighborhood, ill fortune, or of worse), as well as from certain "malefic" forces which can be generated by various objects (talismans, all sorts of medallions, etc.)—or others, from the environment in which you live every day. The Ring of Re effectively prevents you from all harm that could come to you, without your even being aware of it. It is the Re. I suppose to determine that luck or bewilderment.

Daniele Gilbert

Here is what the Ring of Re has done for other people.

Please to the Ring of Re, THEY MIGHT WIN THE LOTTERY, FOUND LOVE, SUCCESS OF BUSINESS, FORTUNE...

"... for the first time, I won $1,000" in the lottery" and then still other lucky things have happened to me."

Mrs. Dominique C.

"... I couldn't believe my eyes when I read the results of the lottery. My ticket was worth $411!"

M. Michel G.

"... My husband had left me three months ago. The day after I received the ring, I received a letter from him in the mail. He asked me to forgive him and begged me to let him come back."

Mrs. Claude B.

"... three years in a row I was running bankrupt. I constantly have to borrow. But my Ring of Re has changed my life. Now I am the owner of a prosperous business."

Mrs. Lucienne B.

"... for several years I had had depression that caused me to suffer dreadfully. After wearing the Ring of Re for three days, the pains had nearly completely disappeared. I have received also many visits as soon as I stop wearing the ring. This is great!..."

Mrs. Marie M.

"It seems incredible, but after wearing the Ring of Re, my luck has returned. I got five thousand gifts the Amiens one in the lottery, and then you, too."

Mrs. Jacqueline B.

"I won 127,000 on Dec. 21."

Mr. Fabienne V.

"... For me, money and happiness came at the same time! I have found a man who wants to marry me. He is a very good man, understanding, and who won't have anything don't a rich executive in a company where he makes over 50,000 per month. I never ever could have hoped for so much..."

Miss Marie O.

Will you agree to let the Ring of Re free for 30 days?

Just such an obligation on your part?

You've read what the people who have the Ring of Re have said. Now as it did for me, simply wearing the Ring of Re produced wonderful changes in their lives.

Don't you also have problems, you would like to see disappear, or a desire you would love to achieve?

Wear the Ring of Re for 30 days. I am sure that during these 30 days, it will produce a piece of luck for you that is worth at least 100 times the price of the ring.

Even if you are skeptical, you risk nothing by sending this test. Because to prove to you that everything you have just read is true, you can try the Ring of Re free for 30 days before deciding if you want to buy it.

As proof of your sincerity and because nothing is worse the Ring of Re for 30 days well, [illegible] of the really has mysterious powers..."

Let Death Row cons donate their organs!

A snappy Ed Anger salute this week to Senator Larry Plummer of Florida who wants to let Death Row cons take the easy way out of this life if they agree to donate organs for transplants.

MY AMERICA
By ED ANGER

Now THAT's a pretty good idea!

The way this whole thing would work is that condemned creeps who get cold feet at the thought of sizzling in the electric chair could trade their eyes, hearts, kidneys and livers for a simple little shot of poison that would send them packing on the highway to hell.

The poison wouldn't be strong enough to damage their insides — but would put 'em out like a light.

And not only that, I think we'd probably start executing these insects who rape and murder a lot faster if we knew there were poor people waiting on these transplants. I'd pop my buttons with pride if some great state like Florida, whose citizens take great enjoyment in their hot seat Old Sparky, would have a Death Row execution every day of the week but Saturday and Sunday. That would give the other murdering animals the weekend to think about it.

Now I know that the simpering, bleeding heart liberals will throw a teary tantrum over this great idea.

But they'd better thank God I'm not the prison warden.

"What would you do, Ed?" my Uncle O.V. Potter asked when I told him about Senator Plummer's new plan. "Boil 'em in oil or skin them alive?"

I wouldn't do either. Why give 'em any choice? If our hospitals need these organs for transplants, take 'em.

Just cut them out one by one while the miserballs are still alive!

Just strap 'em to an operating table in the prison and cut away.

I'll bet their squeals and screams would scare the dickens out of all the other monsters on Death Row who didn't care what their victims felt like when they were being raped and tortured.

So let's get on with it! Pretty soon we'll have so many hearts, eyes and kidneys on ice, we'll be able to export 'em to other countries and reduce the federal deficit.

DOCTORS should remove donated organs from Death Row cons, says Ed Anger — while the cheeseballs are still alive!

READERS' POLL

What Do You Think?

Should Death Row cons get to trade their organs for transplant and die by lethal injection?

Please check one answer and mail your reply to Ed Anger Poll, Weekly World News Organ Transplant, 600 South East Coast Avenue, Lantana, Fla. 33463.

☐ Yes. It's a fair trade.

☐ No. Ed's right. Cut out their organs while they're still alive!

Man electrocuted by kitchen sink!

An electrician has been charged with manslaughter in the death of a young father who was electrocuted — by a kitchen sink.

Nicholas French, 23, was in his stocking feet when he leaned against the sink and got zapped to kingdom come.

"He got a tremendous shock so severe he could not let go of the sink," said the prosecutor in the Maidstone, England, trial of Stephen Holloway.

Another member of the family turned off the main electrical switch, but it was too late for French. He slumped to the floor and died.

Holloway did the electrical work when an oil-fired central heating system was installed in the High Haldon home in 1987.

"The wiring was done so improperly that shocks occurred when the people of the house touched metal work," said the prosecutor.

"I got shocks from the radiators. They were quite sharp. When you touched the sink, it made you jump," said the victim's grandma, Eva Hukins, who owned the house.

Holloway was sent back to the house on at least two occasions to check the wiring, she said.

"He stayed less than 20 minutes and said he couldn't find anything wrong," said Mrs. Hukins.

Holloway pleaded not guilty and the jury couldn't reach a verdict. The electrician faces a new trial.

SCHOOLGIRL ELOPES WITH BEAU'S DAD!

IT was love at first sight for baby-faced bride Tracey Taylor, 16, and her one-eyed groom Butch Kendall, 40.

By JOE BERGER

Baby-faced schoolgirl Tracey Taylor, 16, dropped her heartbroken boyfriend Carl like a hot potato — to elope with Carl's one-eyed, 40-year-old dad!

I wanted a MAN — not a BOY, says 16-year-old

"I can't believe Tracey and my father actually did this to me," said shell-shocked soldier Carl Kendall, 17.

"I really thought I might marry Tracey one day — and now my dad has stolen her right out of my arms. It's a little hard to take."

But chubby-cheeked Tracey says she knew her romance with Carl was doomed the minute she laid eyes on his four-times-divorced dad Butch.

"It was love at first sight," the blushing bride told reporters in Bromsgrove, England.

"Carl was away in the service, so Butch and I had plenty of time to get to know each other. It didn't take long for me to realize that he was my Prince Charming — even if he is gray-haired and missing one eye."

The starry-eyed schoolgirl and the unemployed trucker slipped off to Edinburgh, Scotland, to tie the knot just four days after Tracey's 18th birthday.

"We've got some folks in kind of a snit, but we really don't give a damn," said balding Butch, father of five teenagers.

"I know I'm old enough to be Tracey's dad, but I don't feel at all like a 40-year-old man inside.

"The difference in age doesn't seem that much to us.

"Tracey and I can talk about all kinds of things on the same level."

Beaming Butch and his fifth missus say they're sorry about the anguish they've caused Carl — but they insist there was no other way.

"Carl is a boy and I needed a man," said lovestruck Tracey.

Butch's disgusted daughter Karen, once Tracey's best friend, was so upset to learn her old school chum is now her stepmother that she moved out of her dad's home in a huff.

"How I Made $21,108 a Month Doing What You Aren't"

And You Can Too!!

By Neville E. Levin - Special Feature Writer

Orlando, FL. - "In only 6 months I took in a whopping $126,650 - and I can take any average person and show them exactly how to do it," declares Lawrence Tabak.

"It made an extra $21,108 my way, requires little effort."

Tabak began a few years ago with humble beginnings as a truck driver. But the cash didn't start to roll in until he discovered this little known money making secret.

Now, on a trial basis, Tabak has begun to train everyday people, just like himself, how to duplicate his new system.

Already the results have been astounding. For example, one person in St. Augustine wrote that they had made $8,500 in an unbelievable 11 days!

"I'm no smarter than you," he states, "only, I have discovered an amazing wealth system."

"Put my program into action," he says, "and you are admired driving your sparkling Mercedes, BMW, or Cadillac. You dazzle your friends with your new dream home. And people see you radiating like a champion."

"You can really be the kind of person that you always wanted to be."

And what's more," he adds, "to make an extra $21,000, my way, requires little effort!"

"Look, there's no magic wand, and poof . . you're rich. It does take time and work. But it's worth it. In fact," he adds, "I only want people who are willing to put forth some effort to use it."

Now, you may not make as much as Tabak, but if you are a real "Go-Getter," you will make even more. And above all, the nice part is that you win the respect of your friends and family.

Tabak has offered to send further details to readers who want to learn his new wealth system. Simply send your name and address to:

"Tabak-INFO" Dept. MASS. 1998 N. 427, Suite 6, Longwood, FL. 32750.

Sending 50¢ to cover postage, processing and handling is greatly appreciated, though not required. No one will call on you.

AT LAST! A POWERFUL NEW MEANS OF LOVE ATTRACTION

Exciting new biochemical breakthrough. Pheromones, the mate-attracting stimulant, does more than anything yet discovered to attract a mate to you.

HOW DOES BIOKEM WORK AND WHY IS IT SO EFFECTIVE?
As demonstrated on national network TV, substances called pheromones trigger mating instincts in nature. BIOKEM is a synthesized, affordable form of these substances, more potent because they are pure. They provide the long-sought answer to how nature attracted insects and animals to each other, even from amazingly long distances and triggered their mating and bonding instincts. These chemicals were gathered and studied and produced a product called BIOKEM, proven most effective in mate attraction.

Intensify those romantic encounters with BIOKEM.
Now you can be more attractive to a mate than those who spend their time and money on perfumes, clothes, jewelry, cosmetics and all the conventional means of attraction. A little BIOKEM, applied as directed, actually intensifies your ammunition and makes you more attractive as it by magic producing a lasting impression that won't soon be forgotten. BIOKEM actually increases basic biological instincts in those around you that you wish to impress. So be sure to order today!

What has biochemical science learned about the effect of olfactory triggers and mate-seeking behavior?
It has long been suspected that nature had a means of transmitting mate-seeking messages over long distances. They wondered how an insect could attract mates away. They learned that potent substances called pheromones were released in the air, signaling that a mate was being sought. Quick response proved that the substance was amazingly effective. BIOKEM is a laboratory product combining this substance with molecules of our own.

BIOKEM is powerful, penetrating, long-lasting, yet is selective.
BIOKEM, fast acting scent makes you more desirable to a mate. It simply helps bring out the best in you. In other words we all know that natural pheromones in insects and animals will attract desirable mates to them. We believe our synthesized pleasant scent of BIOKEM will make you more desirable and will act as an effective attraction to a prospective mate. And isn't this what really counts.

USE BIOKEM AS DIRECTED AND IF NOT 100% EFFECTIVE IN 30 DAYS WE WILL REFUND YOUR MONEY WITHOUT IT

Dad drowns his four kids — by driving them into the river

. . . but mom stands by her man!

ACCUSED dad Lawrence DeLisle in court at his arraignment.

Lawrence DeLisle told police he drove his car into a river, drowning his four small children because they were a "burden," authorities say. But his devoted wife Suzanne is standing by him — because "I know in my heart he's innocent."

SUZANNE DeLisle says her husband is innocent.

Suzanne, 32, was in the car with her family but she and DeLisle managed to swim to safety.

She says DeLisle suffered a leg cramp and was unable to stop his runaway car. DeLisle later recanted his confession, saying police had badgered him into it.

"There's no doubt in my mind what happened," Suzanne said. "It was a complete and total accident. I know how hard he tried to stop the car."

The Lincoln Park, Mich., family were on an outing August 3 when the four children — ranging in age from 8 months to 8 years old — were killed. The couple say they stopped with their children to pick up some cookies at a drugstore in downtown Detroit. They then drove toward the Detroit River on their way home.

The couple say DeLisle — who had complained a few moments earlier of leg cramps — suddenly jammed down on the accelerator. Immobilized by a tired of the car, they say.

He's facing four counts of murder

Suzanne put the car in neutral and turned off the ignition, she told authorities, then grabbed the steering wheel and turned it to the left. But DeLisle was pulling the wheel in the opposite direction, according to the tragic couple — so the car headed straight for the river.

The four children — Brian, Melissa, Kadie and Emily — went to their deaths. The DeLisles survived and were rescued by passing boaters. After interviewing DeLisle, police became suspicious. They gave the man a lie detector test, during which cops say he confessed to killing his children to "be rid of his present burdens."

Police say DeLisle, deeply in debt, was cracking under the strain of his money troubles and decided that doing away with his wife and children would ease his situation. They charged him with four counts of first-degree murder.

"We believe it was premeditated," said Police Chief Edward Rothermal of Detroit.

But attorneys for the DeLisles say the grieving father's confession was coerced after hours of grueling interrogation by police. And Suzanne staunchly stands by her man.

"We believe it was premeditated," said her attorney, David Lawson. — SUSAN JIMISON

Smoker burns down bridges

A peasant tossed a lighted cigarette into an oil-polluted river and two bridges went up in flames. The Nuren River in Russia had been contaminated by an oil spill that dumped 105,000 gallons of oil into the river. The cigarette set the river on fire and spread to the bridges, which were destroyed.

Sting operation

A shoplifting suspect led police on a wacky chase that ended when he jumped from a stolen car right into a hornets' nest and got stung. Ralph Venice, 22, of Bayonne, N.J., is accused of swiping dozens of razor blades from a drug store.

Free mutt and $250 to boot

Richard Lovelace was so tired of his dog's shenanigans that he paid a man $250 just to take the animal off his hands!

The lawyer from Conway, S.C., said the 14-month-old golden retriever-mixed breed shredded wallpaper and chewed the door frame of his house as well as the bumper on a buddy's Porsche.

Lovelace took out a classified ad offering $250 to anybody who would take the dog. Not surprisingly, the ad worked.

He celebrated with a champagne toast.

I'm home raising the kids while my husband is out raisin' hell

Dear Dotti: I'm a married 23-year-old with three kids, all under the age of 5. My problem is my husband. He thinks a woman's place is in the home — and I agree — but he also thinks that his place is anywhere else.

He goes to work at 7:00 a.m. and that's the last I see of him till he stumbles in drunk about midnight. He spends every evening hanging out with his single buddies in the local bars and every weekend fishing, drinking beer and going to sporting events.

I've never actually caught him cheating, but I'm pretty sure he does. I feel like a lonely widow.

How can I get him to be a family man and stay home with me and the kids? — Lonely in Los Angeles

Dear Lonely: Do not be stupid. Divorce the cheating bum before he gets AIDS and gives it to you. This marriage is not worth saving.

Confidential

Dear Do-It in Detroit: Any good hand cream should do.

Dear Burned in Indianapolis: Tell him to give the video back or you're calling the cops.

Dear Lady in D.C.: The whole office? You're no lady — you're a tramp.

Dear Dirty in Miami: I hope you get AIDS.

Dear Willie in Chicago: If you don't like the stares, wear baggy pants.

Dear Pete in Baltimore: Maybe he is a space alien. But if I were you, I'd ask to see his starship.

Dear Yearning in Atlanta: You can dye your hair blond but that's not going to make you white.

I smacked the kid and it paid off

Dear Dotti: You're the greatest. I wrote to you a few months ago about my do-nothing, 22-year-old daughter and you told me to stop whining and slap the crap out of the girl to straighten her up.

I never would have had the courage to do such a thing if you hadn't suggested it.

To make a long story short, I followed your advice and everything's been great since. My daughter got her first job and signed up for business classes at the community college. She helps me clean up the house and even helps pay the rent.

Thanks a million, Dotti. Your advice may seem harsh — but it works. — Grateful in Des Moines

Dear Grateful: You're not telling me anything I don't know but I appreciate the letter anyway. Spare the rod and spoil the child are STILL words to live by.

Life stinks, Dotti! Am I depressed?

Dear Dotti: Sometimes I feel like a million bucks and other times I feel worse than the pits. I've been thinking about this a lot lately but can't make up my mind. Do you think I'm depressed? — Down in New Mexico

Dear Down: I'm no doctor but yes, you're sick. Do yourself a favor. See a shrink.

Everyone's always picking on postmen

Dear Dotti: I work for the U.S. Postal Service and I'm sick and tired of people trashing us because their mail is late or never arrives. It seems like we get blamed for everything when, in fact, we're doing a super job.

Half the letters we get have incomplete addresses and zip codes and the rest are impossible to read. It's a miracle anybody gets any mail and it simply isn't our fault.

You've got millions of readers, Dotti. Please tell them to lay off the Postal Service. We're doing the best we can. — Fed Up in D.C.

Dear Fed Up: I'll do no such thing. You're paid and paid well to deliver the mail and you ought to do it without complaining. You crybaby civil service workers are all alike — you want big big bucks to sit on your butts.

Tell me the truth . . . Am I a thief?

Dear Dotti: A supermarket cashier gave me too much change. I kept it. Did I do the right thing? Should I take the money back? Don't pull any punches — am I a thief? — Worried in South Carolina

Dear Worried: You're not only a thief, you're scum. Take the money back to the store.

Dotti will answer your letters — and tell it like it is. Just write to her, c/o Weekly World News, 600 South East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462.

Ask the Countess

Please tell me who'll play in the Super Bowl

Dear Countess: This is an unusual request but I'm going to ask you anyway. Who's going to play in the Super Bowl next January? And, it would help a lot if you could tell me who'll win. If you can tell me I can place a bet now and win a lot of money. I promise you I won't use any of the cash for myself. I want to start a shelter for the homeless and build a youth center for underprivileged kids.

Please help me out, Countess. There are a lot of people depending on you — and me. — Need Help in Kansas

Dear Need: I know exactly who's going to win the Super Bowl but I'm not going to tell you because I don't want to ruin the season for football fans or give your kids the impression that gambling is the way to get anything.

I can say that you'll break ground on your youth center by Thanksgiving. A local banker knows what you're up to and is going to spearhead a campaign to get the money.

Dear Countess: It seems like every time my family gets ahead we fall right back where we started. We barely make it day to day and usually at the end of the week we take our last bit of money and buy a single lottery ticket.

My parents provide for my brothers and me as well as they can and work very hard. But we have nothing to show for it but a bundle of love and a shabby roof over our heads. I'm trying to get a part-time job while I'm in school to help out but so far I've had no luck. Do you see things getting better for us? — Down in Kentucky

Dear Down: The love your family shares makes you richer than you could ever imagine and I want you to remember that at all times. Your financial situation is looking up. I see you getting that part-time job within the next two weeks. I also see your family winning a lottery jackpot if you continue to spend $1 — and no more — on one lottery ticket a week.

"THE damn thing tried to rape me," says diver Bruce Gilman as he points toward the scene of his bizarre turtle attack.

Oldsters CAN keep their marbles, says study

Senility results mainly from disease, not old age, surprising research shows.

It's possible "we'll die with all our marbles, and that's all I care about," said psychiatrist Lissy Jarvik.

She gave intelligence tests to 134 pairs of elderly twins over four decades. Their scores improved from age 64 to 72. Only when they reached their 80s did their scores decline.

"I don't think mental decline is necessary in old age," she said. "We don't know yet how to prevent it, but we have a lot of clues," including the benefits of exercising, eating right and avoiding drugs and pollution.

Miss Jarvik thinks that someday in the future people might live to be 150.

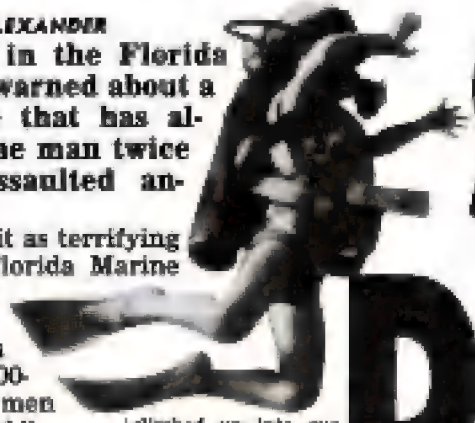
RTLE RIES TO MATE WITH SCUBA DIVERS!

SIGN of the times! Patron gestures toward Turtle Wanted poster, like many now appearing in local Keys' bars.



By JACK ALEXANDER

Scuba divers in the Florida Keys have been warned about a giant gay turtle that has already "raped" one man twice and sexually assaulted another one.

"This is every bit as terrifying as Jaws," said a Florida Marine Patrol officer. "Both divers were manhandled and then molested by the 300-pound turtle. The men could have drowned."

Islamorada real estate agent Bruce Gernon was diving in the Upper Keys when he was mounted and pushed to the bottom by a huge "buck" turtle that divers have nicknamed "Crazy Charlie."

"The damn thing tried to rape me," Gernon told The NEWS. "I either looked real good to him or he thought I was another turtle."

Gernon, 34, was able to wrestle his way free of the monster, but the oversexed don juan of the deep was determined to make love to him.

"It grabbed me with its flippers and tried to pin me to the bottom," Gernon said. "All the while, the stupid turtle probed me in my backside."

Fearing for his life, Gernon twisted out of the frisky turtle's mighty grasp and made his way to the surface.

"I was so scared I didn't know what to do," he said. "I just grabbed the turtle and climbed up into our boat," said Mrs. Gernon.

"I was lucky I weigh 210 and used to wrestle," Gernon told The NEWS. "Otherwise, I might not have been able to get away."

Another Islamorada diver, who weighs only 120 pounds, wasn't as lucky. He was "raped" twice by the same barnacled giant near the Channel 2 Bridge as he dived for saltwater aquarium fish.

The sex-crazed turtle wrapped its flippers around the diver, who wishes to remain anonymous, and dragged him to the bottom.

"I understand the turtle mounted the guy for about five to 10 minutes," said Gernon. "It's a good thing he had air left in his tank or he could have drowned."

experience, the frightened diver abandoned his catch gear, fish and equipment and swam to his boat.

"We've been the butt of a few jokes around town since it happened," said Gernon. "A couple of the bars here have put up 'wanted posters' for the rapist.

"It was a scary experience, but now that it's over I'm trying to adjust to the fact that I was seduced by a turtle."

Florida Marine Patrol officer Rod Stevens said he wasn't aware there were "turtles swimming around violating humans, but we're certainly going to look into it."

normally the proper mating tool for turtles, who don't have sex just for the heck of it," Stevens said.

Gernon and the other victim can consider themselves fortunate.

"When a male turtle gets into a romantic mood, he will mate for several days at a time," said Stevens.

Bob Epstein, an outdoor writer who broke the story in an Islamorada weekly, said he has since been contacted by 10 other divers who have been sexually attacked by turtles. Gernon and the other victim haven't sought counseling at a rape crisis center. "We're dealing with it in our own way . . . without profes-

Dog's ghost saves family from raging house fire

A loving dog returned from the dead to save a sleeping family from burning alive in a raging house fire!

By JOHNNY SLATTERY

In a hair-raising climax to the dramatic rescue, the phantom fido helped his little pal Jimmy — a toddler blind since birth — escape from the fire-swept house!

"It must have been Colonel's ghost," said an amazed Max Abel. "I can't think of another explanation."

Colonel, a beagle, brought comfort and joy to Max Abel's family for 10 years before cataracts and arthritis ended the companionable canine's career. It was the saddest day in the family's life when a weeping Abel finally put the sick old dog to sleep.

But when a vicious blaze ripped through the Abels' two-story house, Colonel returned to the people he loved!

"It was after midnight when the barking woke us up," said Abel. "It sounded just like the way Colonel used to bark — a kind of growl that started way down in his chest, then just boomed out of his throat.

"My wife and I were both shocked — and then we smelled the smoke!"

An electrical short sent flames boiling through the Abels' aging house in an English-speaking community in Mexico City — and the parents raced to their twin 2-year-old daughters, Mary and Marsha.

"We snatched the babies and ran outside," said Abel. "But the other kids were still in the house."

Groping through the inferno, 8-year-old Shane and 10-year-old Darlene stumbled to safety out a side door. Colonel's thunderous barking led them along a path of safety through the burning house. That left 4-year-old Jimmy stranded in the doomed house!

The Abels could hear their blind little boy crying pitifully, but heat blasted the terrified family like flames from a furnace. Helpless, Abel fell to his knees.

Miraculously, little Jimmy suddenly appeared in an upstairs window, smiling and confident! Without hesitation, he stepped off the sill and fell to the ground, unhurt!

He said he was scared and lost when Colonel bumped into him. Jimmy said he held on to the dog and walked to the window. Jimmy said he was never afraid — he felt Colonel beside him all the way down!

GHOST of faithful Colonel led blind boy to safety.

VICTIM OF A FROG? Experts say sharks were killed by a tiny tree critter.

Half-inch frog kills 3 sharks

Sharks are the most vicious predators of the deep. But three of them were killed by a half-inch-long tree frog that hopped into a science museum's shark pool and shed poison out of its back!

Bob Johnson of the South Florida Science Museum in West Palm Beach, Fla., has no other explanation for the deaths of three lemon sharks that were supposed to be the stars of a shark exhibit. According to Johnson, the three-foot sharks developed strange white spots, turned pale and died a few hours after he found the poisonous tree frog in the pool.

Widower tends wrong grave for 10 years

Tragic widower John Gough lovingly tended to his wife's grave for 10 years. Sadly, Rosie Gough wasn't in it.

The woman had mistakenly been buried three rows away but nobody realized it until the old man died and officials found that two other people were under the double headstone that bore the Gough name.

A spokesman for Greenwood Cemetery in Louisville, Ky., acknowledged the mistake. Mrs. Gough's body will be moved to another section of the cemetery so she and her husband can be buried together, he said.

Don't buy fancy cleaners — you already own the . . .

BREW is great for mirror frames.

By SUSAN JIMISON

You don't need to sink a fortune into high-priced cleaners in your war against stubborn spots and stains — because ordinary products you have around the house can outdo them at half the cost, experts say.

Toothpaste is great for removing furniture stains, yogurt makes piano keys shine and Grandma's Efferdent makes the toilet bowl sparkle as brightly as the old lady's dentures, say Eugenia Chapman and Jill C. Major, authors of More Clean Your House & Everything In It (Perigee Books, $7.95), the sequel to Clean Your House & Everything In It.

Mrs. Major said, "Here are some more undercover cleaners that just may surprise you."

● Cutter's Insect Repellent: It will remove marks that are caused by permanent Magic Markers.

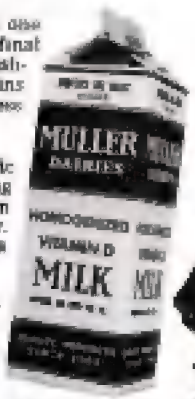
● Coke: Rub a little on your driveway to remove old grease. First soak up the grease with Kitty Litter, sweep, pour Coca Cola over and let stand for 20 minutes, but do not let dry. Then brush it out with scrub brush.

COKE does wonders for a dirty driveway.

● Milk: Put one cup in the final rinse when washing sheer curtains to add crispness to them.

● Denture cream: Terrific for brightening the grout in your shower. Apply with a toothbrush.

● Walnuts: Rub the walnut meat into scratches on wood furniture to hide them.



SHEER FABRICS turn out crisp with a little help from milk.

● Meat tenderizer: Great for getting stubborn bloodstains out of washable fabrics. Just wet cloth, sprinkle on the tenderizer, rub and launder.

● Hair spray: Cheap hair spray removes ballpoint pen stains from cloth. Just spray and launder.

● Beer: Ordinary brew is great for cleaning gilded mirror frames.

● Club soda: This extraordinary product will clean Formica countertops and put the shine back into your stainless steel sink. Just rub into surface with a soft rag, rinse and wipe dry.

For removing stains in your carpet, rub in club soda, scrub, then rinse with a vinegar-and-water solution and wipe as dry as possible.

● Ketchup: It's great for polishing copper. Pour it on generously and scrub hard with an SOS pad.

● Rubbing alcohol: Puts a shine on bathtub and sink fixtures. Just put on a rag, scrub and wipe dry. Also great for cleaning chandeliers the easy way.

Put two teaspoons of rubbing alcohol and one pint warm water in a spray bottle and drench the chandelier, then let it drip dry. Be sure the lights are off and cool, of course.

It's never too late for love

Nursing home romance — bride is 80 & groom's 91

It was love at first sight for Evelyn Keiser and Lester Hanson, so the two amorous sweethearts decided to tie the knot fast.

And time was important — she's 80 and he's 91!

"We had a whirlwind romance," Evelyn said. "We had to hurry at our ages. Neither one of us could afford to get tied up in a long drawn-out engagement.

"And we didn't have to waste a second after the wedding to set up house — I just moved my things into his next-door room."

Cupid's arrow hit the two sprightly lovebirds the very first day chipper Lester and fun-loving Evelyn laid eyes on each other.

The love sparks were still crackling in their hearts when they "waltzed" down the aisle holding hands — Evelyn aided by a cane and Lester in his wheelchair — just three and a half months later.

And when Lester said "I do," he became the oldest bridegroom in Wisconsin history.

"Now we're looking forward to a happy and wonderful life together," the twinkle-eyed bride said. "It may be late, but there's still time for love and happiness. The Lord has been very good to us."

And gallant Lester vowed: "I'm going to make every day of our life together a wonderful fairy-tale romance."

The smiling bride said with a wink, "And he isn't fibbing — he's a wonderful kisser."

Evelyn moved to the Menomonie, Wis., nursing home after her husband died four months ago. Lester has been a resident for one year. He lost his wife in 1987.

The love-struck newlyweds say their secret to living a long and happy life is controlling anger, looking to the future, lots of love — and daily faith in the Lord.

"It's really a heartwarming story," Dunn County Health Care Center administrator Greg Roberts told The NEWS.

"It proves that love isn't just for the young."

— BOB TEMMEY

'He deserved to be punished!'

By IRWIN FISHER

A young woman flew off the handle and shot a construction worker who whistled at her and ogled her big breasts!

Angeline Valverde was charged with assault with a deadly weapon in the wounding of Nilson Barros, who was treated and released from a hospital after being shot in the hand.

But far from denying the attack, Miss Valverde bragged about the shooting and even posed for a magazine holding a smoking gun.

She then said the construction worker "deserved to be punished" for making a crack about her 46-inch bust and whistling at her.

"I've been the butt of jokes ever since I was a teenager and I'm sick of it," said Miss Valverde, 32, of Campinas, Brazil.

"I shot that idiot once and I'd shoot him again. Nobody has the right to say anything about my body, especially my breasts."

Reports on file at the Campinas Police Department said Miss Valverde was walking by a downtown construction site when Barros dropped his hammer and began to stare at her chest.

She reportedly turned the other cheek. But Barros refused to let the opportunity pass. He whistled and yelled: "Oh baby! I love your big breasts!"

Witnesses said the woman stopped dead in her tracks and began to fish around in her purse.

She then produced a nickel-plated revolver, aimed it at Barros and shot him in the hand.

Barros has not been on the job or available for comment since the shooting.

But his construction boss said the man "had a bad habit of popping off around women but will probably keep his mouth shut from now on."

Meanwhile, the incident has triggered an unexpected bonus for Miss Valverde. She's been swamped with calls from newspapers and magazines, offering to make her Brazil's most-talked-about model. Women want to see her posing with the gun that earned respect for the nation's females.

But Miss Valverde's troubles aren't over. If convicted as charged, she could be fined and sentenced to as much as two years in prison. Women's libbers are already gearing up for her January trial, hoping to pressure the judge to be lenient given the circumstances of her crime.

"We're behind her all the way," Lillian Bianca, a leading advocate of women's rights in the Campinas area, said.

Governor who?

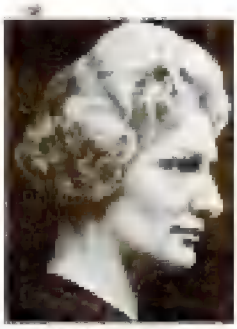
The governor of Pennsylvania almost didn't get a fishing license — because he couldn't prove he was a resident of the state.

Gov. Robert Casey didn't have any identification with him when he tried to get a license in a rural county. A state trooper who was with him finally convinced the clerk that Casey was the guy.

Gal fired for marriage bust-up

A self-righteous boss fired a 45-year-old computer operator because she separated from her husband!

Neither the woman nor her boss were named in reports from Sydney, Australia. But in testimony before a labor board, it was alleged that the woman's employer gave her two weeks notice after saying: "Christian marriages don't break up. You should consider your position as a woman and a wife first!" The woman has filed a complaint with the labor board



PSYCHIC Sylvia Roth

Psychic's mind broadcasts like a radio

Now everyone knows all my secrets, she gripes

A psychic's life became a living hell when her mind began to transmit thoughts to the people around her — just like a radio!

"I have no secrets," Sylvia Roth told psychic researchers at a convention on the French Riviera. "My mind is an open book and everybody, even a total stranger, knows what I'm thinking. I can't even go to the grocery store or leave my house. If anybody gets within 15 feet of me they can read all my thoughts."

Things weren't always so nightmarish for the 47-year-old psychic. Until August she counseled rich and famous people from all over Europe and was considered to be one of the world's best psychics.

All that changed when a two-year study of mindreading backfired — and her own thoughts began to flow out of her mind with such force that any who got near her could read them.

"I was stunned," said Miss Roth.

"I was speaking with one of my clients when she suddenly began to say what I was going to say before I even said it.

"She said: 'My God, Sylvia, I know what you're thinking.' I didn't know what to say but I didn't have to say anything. She knew exactly what I was feeling."

In the days that followed Miss Roth had similar experiences in a department store, supermarket, bank and gas station.

Strangers answered questions she thought about but never verbalized. One woman actually slapped her in the face because the psychic merely thought the dress she had on looked trashy.

Miss Roth sought psychiatric treatment to help her learn to contain her thoughts. But her doctor doesn't know what causes her mind to transmit like a radio and is holding out no hope that he ever will.

"Psychics everywhere must be warned," said Miss Roth. "The development of psychic powers is not without risks.

"I am living proof that dangers do exist — and can alter our lives in ways that were never before dreamed possible."

I can hardly believe it myself, but it's true — and now I feel that I want everyone to know my story of how I lost 71 pounds of ugly fat in just six weeks. I ate all I wanted of the high-calorie foods that I liked. But what amazed me most was that while I STUFFED MYSELF EATING OVER 3,000 CALORIES A DAY, the fat still kept disappearing from my body. George C. of Florida says: "It's fantastic. I lost 37 pounds in two weeks, and look and feel great!"
Ray C. of New York says: "It took me six weeks to lose 71 pounds, two weeks at a time! It's been two years and I have not gained a pound!"

I'LL NEVER BE FAT AGAIN

I used to look at least ten years older, unattractive, but worst of all, any day I expected a heart attack, stroke or diabetes, and decided that this was too serious a problem to expect my family to have to live with. The expense and care would have wiped us all out financially, even if I didn't die from all these diseases.

DISCOVERED BY DOCTOR TO HELP OVERWEIGHT PATIENTS WITHOUT A PRESCRIPTION

The program I used was discovered by a heart specialist who for years had been searching for an easy, safe and permanent scientific program to get the weight of his patients down to normal — and even more important — to keep it down.

Yes, if you are in normal health you will be amazed at this doctor's program that helps you lose as much weight as you wish faster and more safely than anything you've ever tried. After all, who ever heard of a weight-reduction program that requires no doctor's prescription and lets you eat high-calorie foods to your heart's content?

NO SELF-CONTROL NEEDED AS 20-30-60-100 UNWANTED POUNDS & INCHES MELT AWAY

The program I used has been proven successful on people just like you and me and I now offer it to the general public by the name of DIETOL-7™ because until I learned of this medical discovery, I had previously tried 8 unsuccessful different ways to lose weight. Yes, now we at Over-Eaters would like to help you become healthy, slim, attractive men and women by using DIETOL-7.

IMPORTANT: THIS IS THE FASTEST & MOST PERMANENT WEIGHT-LOSS PROGRAM KNOWN

Simply follow the DIETOL-7 program each day and watch your extra pounds and inches disappear. Yes, DIETOL-7 is without a doubt the most permanent and fastest way to lose weight and keep it off. Previously, I must have tried just about everything I read about or heard about, but this program is the only really successful quick-losing way I've ever used that is based on medical research conducted here and abroad.

PLEASE NOTE: The program should not be used more than two weeks at a time due to large amounts of weight loss in that short period. Also, this product is not for sale to minors without parental consent.

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED AMAZING RESULTS IN 3 WEEKS OR A FULL REFUND

Yes, see for yourself how fast DIETOL-7 will work for you. I'm so certain you'll be delighted that I want you to try it in your own home at my expense.

SORE BACK?

An amazing new patented invention is giving people dramatic relief from back pain.

This incredible "break-through" system is causing quite a sensation in medical circles.

The inventor, Dr. M.R. Davidson, who spent years developing and testing it says he is flooded by letters from satisfied patients. Many of them state that they can't believe how effective it is. "The pain just seems to vanish".

DEEP SEA MIRACLE!

Man drops wallet overboard and a fisherman hooks it 6 days later

When Randy Lindquist's wallet fell overboard during a deep-sea fishing trip, he was sure he'd never see it again — but six days later another fisherman hooked it and mailed it to him!

"When I opened that package I just couldn't believe it. It was so incredible," an amazed Lindquist told The NEWS. "But there it was, my lost wallet right in front of me — and $93, my credit cards and driver's license.

"I don't know what the odds were against that wallet ever being hooked in open ocean of the Atlantic. They have to be mind-boggling. I had better odds trying to hit the Megabucks lottery than ever seeing it again," said Lindquist, of Randolph, Vt.

Dennis Murphy, 51, described how he and his 23-year-old son, Jim, snagged the wallet.

"Jim and I were trolling for bluefish on the seaward side of the Isle of Shoals off the New Hampshire coast," Murphy told The NEWS. "The ocean depth was about 140 feet.

"Jim was checking the lines periodically for seaweed, and during one of those checks he found that instead of a bluefish, we'd hooked somebody's wallet."

Back on shore, the Murphys quickly wrapped their catch and sent it to the stunned owner.

The Murphys of Newcastle, N.H., said they hooked the wallet about three miles farther out at sea from where Lindquist had dropped it. It had moved with the tide.

"We were trolling for fish and what we caught was a miracle," said Dennis Murphy. "I've told a lot of fish stories, but this takes the prize for a 'catchy' ending."

— CHUCK HOE

. . . then mails it back to stunned owner!

LUCKY Randy Lindquist shows the wallet he lost while fishing in the Atlantic Ocean. Amazingly, the wallet was returned . . . six days after it fell into the 140-foot-deep seas.

Goodbye Zeta

A pet elephant was buried in a giant-size grave with a few of her favorite things — a pile of hay, a watering hose and a can of beer.

Another prized possession laid to rest with Zeta, a 10,000-pound pachyderm, was the screen door she used to open on milk raids to her owners' back porch refrigerator.

Zeta, 60, was loved as a member of the family of Gene and Ruth Schuler of Waldo, Fla. The couple care for about 100 retired circus and zoo animals.

Americans are science imbeciles

Americans are dopes in science, a disturbing survey reveals.

A study for the National Science Foundation found stunning ignorance about the simplest concepts:

● Fifty-five percent of our adults don't know that Earth revolves around the sun once a year.

● Thirty-six percent think that boiling radioactive milk will make it safe to drink.

● Sixty-three percent say early man lived at the same time as the dinosaurs.

Author Judith Stone conducted an informal survey and found people who thought Chernobyl was a ski resort, thought DNA was a food additive and confused protons with salad croutons.

Michael Easterly

Hubby torches wife — at the dinner table!

Barbara Easterly was cutting into her steak when she noticed her husband was standing behind her instead of sitting down to supper.

"Aren't you going to eat?" the 44-year-old waitress asked. "No. I'd rather watch you burn," he replied.

Then Michael Easterly, 35, doused his wife with lighter fluid and torched her T-shirt with a flick of his cigarette lighter, said cops.

Frantic and in flames, the terrified woman rolled on the floor and poured water on herself to put the fire out, said Madeira Beach, Fla., Police Lt. Matthew McShane.

"She said her husband didn't move a muscle to help her," Lt. McShane told The NEWS.

"He just stood there and watched, she told us."

Mrs. Easterly suffered first- and second-degree burns on her chest, but was released from a hospital two hours after the frightening experience.

"Mrs. Easterly said there was nothing going on at all, that they were going to have a nice dinner when out of the blue, bam," said Police Sgt. Terry Heath.

But Lt. McShane said the couple had been arguing "on and off all day long.

"There had been talk that she had told him to hit the road," he said.

Neighbor Tawnya Starr told cops she saw Mrs. Easterly standing on the sidewalk between her apartment and the Easterlys' about 10 o'clock that night.

"She was screaming, 'Somebody help. Call the ambulance. I'm on fire,'" said Miss Starr.

"In the meantime, Easterly was trying to jerk her back into their house."

Easterly was charged with aggravated battery and jailed on $20,000 bond.

How to get your kids to exercise

A new book tells how adults can get their lazy couch potato kids to exercise — by tricking them!

"If you emphasize fun and fellowship, fitness will follow," says Bob Glover, coauthor of The Family Fitness Handbook (Penguin, $9.95). "Forcing children to exercise in order to improve their health will never work. Fake 'em out, I say."

Glover recommends involving the whole family in fun activities such as biking, walking, swimming and skating. Go hiking and skiing on vacations, he advises. Even joining in with your child in a game like tag will show that you think exercise is important.

Federal studies show that at least half of American children aren't exercising for even an hour a week.

Are you in the market for immortality?

Docs will freeze your head for $30G!

By ROSE GRADY

If you're in the market for immortality, here's a money-saving offer you can't refuse — you can have your head frozen for less than half the cost of icing down your whole body!

It's a bargain-basement variety of cryonic preservation — the science of freezing bodies at the time of death in the hope that someday new medical technology will be able to resurrect them.

The going rate for freezing an entire body is now in the neighborhood of $60,000. But for a mere $30,000, scientists at the Alcor Life Extension Foundation will preserve just your head.

The idea is that somewhere down the line — perhaps in a hundred years or so — other scientists will be able to clone an entire body and attach it to the thawed head.

"I could be flippant and say we'll make a new body," said Mike Darwin, president of the Fullerton, Calif., cryonics center. "But that's what we hope to do. Memory, personality, genetic code, they're all included in the patient's brain or head."

Darwin reasons that the rest of the body is just so much flesh, and if the patient died of old age, what good is it to come back to a decrepit body?

"We don't have a ghoulish, aesthetic attachment to the corpses," he explained. At present, there are 11 true believers in cryonics lying frozen inside giant thermos bottles, awaiting the day when the impossible becomes the possible. Seven of them are whole bodies, the remaining four are heads.

The freezing process is a complicated one and the skill required takes it out of the do-it-yourself category.

The body is placed on heart-lung resuscitation and injected with anti-coagulants. Later the blood is removed and replaced with a kind of antifreeze low in sodium and calcium, high in potassium, mimicking the inside of a cell.

The body is further cooled, and when it reaches near-zero degrees, the tissues are infiltrated with glycerol to protect the cells from freezing damage.

After still another cooling process, the body — or head — is put into the vacuum bottle and frozen at minus 196 degrees centigrade. And then the long wait.

Your favorite color reveals the true you

Your favorite color can do a lot more for you than just make you look and feel good — it can also reveal your personality and how you relate to others!

"Understanding color preferences gives you insight into who you are, your own personality and awareness as to how you relate to other people," said Alfred W. Munzert, author of Analyze Your Personality Through Color.

Munzert offers these examples:

● Blue — You have a basic need for calm, harmonious existence. You make a loyal, trustworthy friend but may tend to be self-centered, egotistical and impatient of others whose ideas differ from your own.

● Red — You are aggressive, energetic, an extrovert, have a craving for action and a tremendous drive for success. You are quick to take sides and make judgments.

● Green — You are stable, conscientious and persistent, a good citizen, fine neighbor and concerned parent. Your reputation is important to you. You are a generally affectionate and loyal friend, spouse and lover.

● Brown — You are a steady, reliable character with a keen sense of duty. You have a strong need at all times for physical well-being, security and a sense of belonging, so you place great emphasis on home and family.

● Yellow — You have a yearning for the new, the modern and an expanding future. You are inclined to be intellectual, idealistic and highly imaginative.

● Purple — You may believe you are set apart and unique from others. You are highly sensitive and observant and may be temperamental.

● Black — You are greatly dissatisfied. You feel pressured by forces beyond your control and rebel against things. You wish to impress others with your worldliness and are inclined to conceal your personality and emotions from others.

● Gray — You have a desire to conceal yourself from the world.

Man bitten by dead rattler!

Ed Smelko found a three-foot rattler while clearing brush in his yard and blasted the thing to pieces with his shotgun. But when he picked up its head, he was bitten anyway — and nearly died!

"He was alive, definitely, because he was able to break my grip and take hold of me," said Smelko, 29, who lives in Floral City, Fla. "Before I knew what had happened, the snake had bitten me on the right thumb.

"Just seconds later my entire body started shaking and tingling. I got so sick and dizzy I could hardly walk. I knew I needed to get to the hospital, or it would be bad news for me."

Fortunately for the refrigeration technician, his wife was close by and rushed him to a hospital. Doctors predict he'll be fine.

The young Bracebridge, England, couple just had their twelfth child, and they'll have more if 31-year-old mom Nicola gets her way.

"I just love having babies," said supermom Nicola. "I wouldn't mind going for 13.

"I just love giving birth. Every time is different, but it's always a pleasure. It's what women are made for."

Kevin, 28, supports his growing brood with his own carpentry business and Nicola helps him by doing the books.

Their income of about $500 a week is plenty enough to get by on, thanks to Nicola. She knits and sews all the children's clothing by herself and cares for her family and their seven-bedroom home without help.

"Sometimes I'm so exhausted at the end of the day that I want to curl up and die," Nicola admitted. "But what mom doesn't feel like that? I can't complain."

The wonder parents were kids themselves when they launched their family. Kevin was 15 when they had their first child.

. . . and dad's just 28 years old

When they can, the Pridhams like to get away from Anthony, 11, Alexander, 10, Sara, 9, Victoria, 8, Charlotte, 7, James, 6, Damian, 5, Adam, 4, Katie, 3, Emma, 2, Daniel, 1, and newborn Alasdair. But those moments alone might add to their brood if the twinkle in Nicola's eye means anything.

"I like to look nice for Kevin and I have my hair done once a week," she said.

"I never slop about in tatty old clothes, either. I just don't do it.

"And the day Kevin stops finding me attractive is the day I know we'll have completed our family," the supermom said.

Australia jails killers till they rot!

Convicted killers sentenced to life in prison in New South Wales, Australia, will stay there until the day they die — with no chance of parole.

The tough new law was passed over the objections of bleeding-heart liberals and soft-headed politicians who cried that it offered little chance of rehabilitation for the murderers.

"The community has become cynical about life sentences," said state Premier Nick Greiner.

"The public and relatives of victims are entitled to know that when people are sentenced to life for murder, they will spend the rest of their natural life in prison."

BIG STINK BANS MOOSE

Bigwigs are using rotten eggs to keep moose away from a busy road!

A spray called Putrescent that has an egg base will be applied along U.S. 201 in Maine in an effort to reduce road accidents.

Speeding motorists who ignored warning signs had officials at wit's end. "If you had seen some of the vehicles that I have seen (after a collision) you would shudder," said state biologist Ronald Joseph. "The moose are big, and the cars are so little."

Flirt your way to romance

By MICHAEL TODD

Want to be a devastating flirt, a woman whose every gesture and glance sets a man to thinking of love? Try a few of these fascinating techniques for tantalizing the opposite sex.

They were devised by Joyce Jillson, author of the best-selling book The Fine Art of Flirting (Cornerstone Library), and they're designed to deliver hidden messages of attraction and availability without making your romantic intentions too obvious.

Flirting With Your Eyes: Your eyes can speak of love just as eloquently as your mouth if you use this magic maneuver. Throw a glance at your flirting partner, but when he turns to meet your eyes, drop your eyes immediately.

To have the bedroom eyes that men find irresistible, simply hold back blinking. Do not move your forehead, but let your eyes get wider and wider. When you must blink, do so slowly, holding your eyes closed slightly longer than normal.

Flirting With Your Hands and Arms: You can reveal vulnerability and interest in a man by using gestures that catch his eye. Try exposing your inner wrist by glancing at your wristwatch or yawning and stretching, crossing your hands in front of you so both wrists face the other person.

Whenever you use arms and hands, place them in open positions. Don't close off your flirting partner by crossing your arms in front of you or gesturing with closed hands.

Keep your open and outstretched hands, palms up, not palms down on the table.

Entice Him With Crossed Legs: As long as you're not tense about it, crossing your legs can be powerfully attractive to a man.

Remember to cross your legs in the direction of your flirting partner. Every now and then, uncross your legs and leave them uncrossed for a few moments before crossing them again.

Learn to Use Props to Flirt Successfully: You can spice up your body language by using objects to convey your message of romantic interest.

Since men love to watch a woman discreetly touch up her makeup, use a mirror as a flirting device.

Hold the mirror between you and the man, in a direct line with your lips, then smooth your mascara or eyeshadow back into place.

THE EYES have it, but so do your hands and legs, says best-selling author Joyce Jillson in her book The Fine Art of Flirting.

BOING!

Bouncing baby hops on bed and goes right out the window!

A romping toddler jumped up and down on her dad's bed and bounced right out their apartment window to the pavement 35 feet below — and wasn't even hurt.

In fact, 21-month-old Anneliese More had so much fun she wanted to do it again, but her worried parents rushed her to a hospital in Southampton, England, instead.

The blonde-haired tot had accompanied her mother, Vanessa, into the family's bedroom and jumped on the bed to awaken her father, John.

"It all happened so fast," said Vanessa, 37. "One second she was jumping up and down on the bed — then, boing, she was gone.

"All we saw were her tiny legs disappearing out the window."

Anneliese crashed through the third-floor window, bounced twice off a power pole guide wire and landed on the pavement.

When her horrified parents reached her side they could only stare in amazement. The pink-cheeked little daredevil was standing up, all two feet of her, smiling.

"She even asked if she could do it again," Vanessa laughed.

"I couldn't believe it when I got to her," said More, 29, his voice filled with amazement. "She'd hardly got a scratch. I still called for an ambulance because I couldn't believe a kid could fall that far and not be hurt."

But doctors found that bouncing Anneliese had miraculously suffered nothing more than scrapes on her forehead and elbow.

"She can really bounce around — she bounces on anything. But what she likes to do best is bounce on our bed," troubled mom Vanessa sighed.

"When she got back from the hospital she went right up to the bedroom with John and coaxed, 'Slide, Daddy. Slide again.'

"That did it. We went right out and bought her a little slide to play on — one that sits only a few feet off the ground down in the garden."

FLUCKY little Anneliese More was hopping on her pop's bed to wake him but bounced out the window. Amazingly, the three-story plunge left her with barely a scratch.

She wasn't hurt — and wanted to do it again

'Model' rapist strikes again, police report

A "model" prison inmate just two days out of the slammer is being sought for robbery and rape — the same offenses that landed him behind bars in the first place.

Police say that Jimmie D. Kazee, 37, had been paroled after serving just eight years of his 25-year sentence because his probation agent considered him a model prisoner. Just days after his release he knocked on the back door of a Milwaukee, Wis., home and asked the woman who answered for a glass of water.

When she let him in, he sexually assaulted her at knife point and took her gold necklace, cops say.

She later identified Kazee from police photographs.

Experts give this advice for a happy marriage . . .

Share the housework!

If you want to be happy in your marriage, sociologists have some advice for you — share the housework.

By SUSAN JIMISON

According to University of Illinois researchers Catherine Ross and John Mirowsky, couples who divide the household chores between them are less likely to suffer from depression than people who believe housework is strictly women's work.

The two sociologists divided marriages into four types based on their study of 888 couples — ages 18 to 65 — from all over the country. In all cases, the husband held a job, but the wives' roles differed.

● Type 1: In this kind of marriage, the wife stayed home and did all domestic work.

The husband was the boss, and neither of the two mates wanted the wife to work outside the home.

Type 1s tended to be moderately happy, but the husband was usually significantly happier than his wife.

● Type 2: The wife in this marriage works, but both she and her husband wish she didn't have to. They need her addition to the family income, but in spite of holding down an outside job, she is still expected to do most of the chores.

Husbands and wives in Type 2 marriages are more depressed than in any other kind of arrangement, the husband is even more depressed than his wife.

● Type 3: In the third type of marriage, both the husband and wife want the woman to work outside the home and she does. Yet the wife still does most of the housework.

Wives in this kind of arrangement are as depressed as those in Type 1. Husbands are even happier than in the more traditional Type 1 marriage because they like their wife's added income.

● Type 4: Both husband and wife work outside the home in this kind of marriage and both are happier than in any other arrangement.

Housework is shared between the partners.

Donut shop girl bares breasts to customers — & wins $50 radio contest

By SUSAN JIMISON

Donut shop worker Pam Shull went topless to win $50 from her local radio station — and nearly wound up jobless.

. . . Now she wishes she'd kept her shirt on!

The Olathe, Kans., woman dropped her blouse and bra in front of 25 dazzled donut shop patrons after disc jockeys at radio station KBEQ announced they were looking for a donut shop gal in the Kansas City area to go topless.

"We were doing a story on a topless donut shop in Ft. Collins, Colo., and we wanted our own topless donut place," explained the radio show's producer, Rusty Humphries. "We were calling by random to donut shops and happened to get Pam.

"She said she'd do it, so we went out there. She said she really wanted the $50.00. When she got in trouble with her boss we gave her an extra $104 — and we would have gotten her another job if she needed it."

According to Humphries, who accompanied a mobile van to Winchell's Donut House in Olathe, 24-year-old Pam's striptease was brief but satisfying.

"A bunch of people had already heard about it on the radio and there were probably 25 to 30 people already there," he said. "Pam was nervous, but she flashed for the cash. She flashed the crowd.

"She was really a big hit, but it wasn't like she sat around and danced around the place.

"It was just for a brief instant."

Pam's supervisor, Marjorie Richardson, announced after the titillating show that she might fire her bare-breasted employee.

"It's not the kind of image we want to project in the community," she said.

But after a few days of vacation everyone cooled off and Pam was permitted to return to her job — provided she promised to keep her shirt on.

These days the donut shop flasher is unwilling to return phone calls from curious reporters, but before her job was on the line she offered a simple explanation for her daring deed: "I did it because of the money," she said.

Is rhino pregnant — or just fat? Nobody knows!

Is she, or isn't she? Not even her zookeepers know for sure.

Bibi the rhino is such a pudgy beauty that the Sedgwick County Zoo in Wichita, Kans., can't figure out if she's pregnant. She mated three times with Eugene, the zoo's strapping male black rhino, and there are indications that she's with child.

But "a rhino is big to begin with," said the zoo's veterinarian, Bill Bryant. "She'll bulge so gradually that we might not notice it."

He's learned of a new saliva test that might reveal the truth. Collecting the black rhino's spit is easiest before 3,000-pound Bibi has had breakfast. "I take a banana, hold it in front of her, and she drools," Dr. Bryant said.

School principal flunks math test

A high school principal is in hot water for failing a simple math test!

Walter Harris, principal of Ribault High School in Jacksonville, Fla., failed the math part of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam. The problems are "no harder than the eighth-grade level," said Tom Fisher, director of the testing program.

Harris, who has a doctoral degree, was on acting principal status while waiting to retake the math part of the test.

FLORIDA HAS THE MEANEST TEENS!

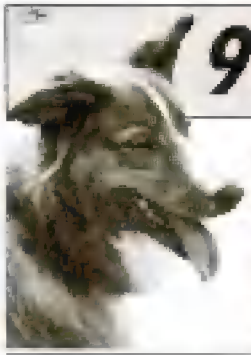
Florida has the meanest teenagers in the country — they murder, rape, rob and attack people much more often than the national average.

Florida teens were charged with violent crimes at a rate 45 percent above the U.S. average, The Florida Times-Union reported in Jacksonville.

Bigwigs blamed drugs and poverty. "To go to jail or to father a bastard child has become a badge of honor" in the slums, said Rep. Mike Langton.

Up, up & away!

And away we go! High-flying Heather Goebel, 15, lets out a scream as she and her inner tube hit the air behind a speeding motorboat on Indiana's Lake Shafer. Much to her surprise,



9 out of 10 top execs had childhood pets

This country's bulldog-tough corporate leaders just may owe their top-of-the-ladder success to "puppy love."

Polled by Pets Are Wonderful Council, a whopping 96 percent of business bigwigs said that they had childhood pets.

"These top executive officers had a dog or cat or both when they were children," says council spokesman Jeanne Neylon.

"And this could well be the secret to their success as leaders."

Miss Neylon says most of the highly paid executives list responsibility as the most important lesson they learned from their pets.

But empathy, sharing and companionship finished close behind.

"As youngsters they had the opportunity to talk to their pets when they arrived home from school," declared Miss Neylon.

"And some of them said that during their youth they considered pets a lot better than other kids because they didn't talk back. The mutts and cats were a great cure-all — when these future leaders felt lonely, they had an understanding 'friend' to talk to."

Said one exec: "My dog was a terrific listener and terrific company.

"I learned love, devotion and sacrifice from him — I can't imagine growing up without him."

Another replied, "My Molly is my second sweetheart," and a third confirmed dog lover even admitted that he considered his dogs "as bona fide members of the family."

Miss Neylon says that pooches were the most popular childhood pets, followed by cats and horses — and that 75 percent of the execs polled reported their families have pets today.

"As a matter of fact, a majority of American households — 55 percent — have pets as members of the family."

Miss Neylon says, "Pet owners are viewed by others as better educated, friendlier, more generous than people without pets — and, for some reason, even better looking."

Man shot for poking in fridge

A man shot his 74-year-old brother in the face for snooping in the fridge, cops say.

Richard Deppe, 58, is charged in the shooting of his brother, Clarence, at their home near La Motte, Iowa.

"Richard told Clarence to stop poking around in the refrigerator, looking for some tomatoes . . . and Clarence refused," said the sheriff's department.

"Richard then got a .22-caliber pistol from the bedroom, and when Clarence refused again, Richard fired one shot, striking Clarence in the cheek area."

Single mom gives birth to her second sperm bank baby

By SUSAN JIMISON

MOM'S single and proud! Lynda Hunerwadel displays her sperm bank kids, baby Scott and 2-year-old daughter Rosemary.

Career woman Lynda Hunerwadel hasn't found the man of her dreams yet, but she's got the children she's always wanted, anyway — from a sperm bank.

The single mom from Collegewah, Tenn., just gave birth to her second baby — a little boy — after undergoing artificial insemination. She already has an adorable daughter, Rosemary, 2, conceived the same way.

"I have loved children all my life," said Lynda, who runs a successful pet-grooming business. "If I had married young, I would have had a bunch of them. I don't think there's any doubt about that. I'd have a bunch of them now if I were young and could afford more. I just love children."

Lynda, who is 42 years old, decided to go ahead and have her children now because she was worried she might be too old by the time she met a man she wanted to marry.

She's faced very little resistance from friends and family; she says most people support her partnerless parenting.

"I was 37 years old and just simply had not met anyone I wanted to marry," the pretty brunette said. "But I very much wanted to have children and was getting to an age that my biological time clock became a factor. I knew if I ever was going to have children, then I'd better start."

Lynda says her solo foray into motherhood has been a great success and she wants other women who are facing the end of their reproductive years to understand they can have this option, too.

But she hasn't ruled out marrying one day to give them a live-at-home dad.

"If I met someone tomorrow I would get married," she said.

ARIES
Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Recent complications at your place of work are resolved early in the week, and you feel more at ease with coworkers.

Developments in the life of your mate affect your own plans. Stick up for what you want to do. Your whole life is about to change for the better.

The prospect of several hours spent socializing with your in-laws has you expecting the worst.

You may be surprised at how smoothly and quickly the time passes with them.

TAURUS
Apr. 20-May 20

Events early in the week finally prove to you that you are making progress in several areas of your life that have seemed bogged down at a standstill.

This is an advantageous time for Taurus to undertake new enterprises — business ventures or possible real estate investments.

Libra and Pisces figure prominently.

Some who are single-and-seeking may have a romantic surprise when an out-of-touch friend gets in touch.

GEMINI
May 21-June 20

This is not a good time to make a career change.

Caution is the word. Make sure you are getting good advice before making a major move. Beware of a foe, possibly Capricorn.

A minor spat with your beloved may disturb your life midweek, fortunately without lasting consequences.

You could be forced to take a firm stand when problems with siblings threaten to interfere with personal weekend plans.

CANCER
June 21-July 22

You may have to dip into accumulated vacation days in order to attend to health matters that require immediate attention this week. Debilitating symptoms can no longer be ignored.

Your mate is supportive and helps to create a cheerful atmosphere.

You spend the weekend catching up on household chores, which puts you in an unpleasant mood, but family's praise soon cheers you up.

Be firm with certain people over a business matter. You'll come out ahead.

LEO
July 23-Aug. 22

You begin the week struggling with a troublesome situation or person.

However, in several days the problem will be resolved and you can relax emotionally.

A surprise awaits when someone whom you had thought of as a enemy proves to be a friend by speaking out when office gossip places you in a bad light.

Keep in mind that cat-and-mouse games of love have the potential to backfire.

VIRGO
Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Your recent tendency to procrastinate at your place of work, letting your colleagues carry the load, comes to the attention of those in authority.

Make amends by admitting that you deserve the reprimand, and begin using your creative talents. They are your greatest personal assets.

Friction may develop on the home-front for married this week. Remaining steadfast will calm a troubled atmosphere.

LIBRA
Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Take heart, Libra, as positive news is coming your way which should relieve the feelings of anxiety which have been coloring your world of late.

Old friends feel threatened by a new acquaintance whom you find fascinating and with whom you have been spending much of your time.

Remember the old rhyme about new friends being silver and old friends gold? Including them in some of your weekend social activities may soothe hurt feelings.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23-Nov. 21

A pleasant surprise is on the way for some — possibly the chance for travel to exotic ports of call.

Changes are about to take place in your life — both personally and in your career. This could include relocating.

Irritating relatives and busybody friends will tell you how to run your business. Ignore them and follow your intuition.

Plans for a weekend could become complicated when your loved one makes unexpected demands.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22-Dec. 21

You have a chance to better yourself through courses being offered at the adult educational program in your area.

An investment of your time could lead to advancement in your work as well as a spectacular increase in income.

The lunar position in both your house of romance and harmony indicate that the divorced and widowed may expect a change of status during this period. Look to Leo, Virgo and Pisces.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Opportunity may be knocking on your door during this period. Be wary of get-rich-quick money-making schemes, while remaining open to long-term career or investment plans.

Your weekend social calendar leaves little time for those necessary routine chores.

Time spent with family and friends will be extra rewarding and free of the friction and petty bickering that sometimes may get-together-ers when the family is involved.

If your birthday is this week . . .

Your emotions will be on a roller coaster the first part of the year. You'll be especially sensitive to the negative remarks of others. Don't dwell on depressing thoughts.

You'll have trouble with your neighbors over noise. Don't let your anger run away with you. Be firm and fair. The tiff will end with good feelings on both sides.

Vacations this year will be especially relaxing and rewarding.

An invitation to a wedding or family affair could change your love life. Someone you know has been wanting to sweep you off your feet for years.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Due to a cosmic shower in your house of romance, many Aquarians find they are in a romantic mood this week.

Singles step up their pace, socializing at every opportunity, searching for that special someone to share their emotional binge.

Marrieds, on the other hand, shun the social life, opting to spend quiet stay-at-home evenings together.

Personal relationships are highlighted in all areas of your life. Your world has a rosy hue.

PISCES
Feb. 19-Mar. 20

If you have been plagued with problems concerning a major change in your career or a personal relationship, you can expect to receive a flash of insight this week to help you in decision-making.

The weekend finds you indulging yourself, purchasing luxury items for your house and special gifts for special people.

Don't throw caution to the wind, however, as your extravagances will catch up with you when the monthly bills roll in.

Tragedy of America's greatest hero

REAL McCoy here Audie Murphy was America's most decorated soldier in World War 2, but still couldn't get into West Point.

Audie Murphy was a super soldier and movie star, — but happiness eluded him

As a kid, he was so poor he had to scrounge for food in garbage cans. But on a bloody day in 1945 he won the Medal of Honor — and Audie Murphy became the most decorated American hero of World War 2!

The young Texan was just another GI fighting in France the day he climbed atop a blazing tank destroyer and grabbed a .50-caliber machine gun.

Alone and exposed to enemy fire on three sides, Audie Murphy held off two companies of German troops for an hour. When the fighting ended, he had killed or wounded 50 enemy soldiers in single-handed combat.

"I'm a fugitive from the law of averages," he once bragged. But in 1971, the averages caught up with him. He was killed in a plane crash at the age of 48.

After the war, Audie applied to West Point, but was rejected because of his war injuries.

But his fame as a war hero and his boyish good looks opened one other door for him — he became a movie star who appeared in 44 films, most of them low-budget westerns.

"I didn't want to be an actor," he once said. "It was simply the best offer that came along."

Whatever degree of fame he achieved on the screen, Audie never found peace of mind. He saw himself as a victim of the war.

Plagued by insomnia, he slept with a loaded pistol under his pillow.

He endured bankruptcy, divorce and addiction to pain-killing drugs.

"After the war, they took Army dogs and rehabilitated them for civilian life," he said. "But they turned soldiers into civilians immediately and let 'em sink or swim."

One of 11 children, he was born in Kingston, Tex., 50 miles northeast of Dallas. His poor, sharecropper dad split when Audie was 12.

His mom died just a few years later.

"Everyone claimed the boy after he became a hero," said his boyhood chum William Mulkey, now 68.

"Back when he was halfway eating out of garbage cans, no one wanted him."

Another friend, 63-year-old Monroe Hackney — who grew up plinking squirrels with Audie back in rural Hunt County — remembers Audie as a man tormented by discontent.

"After Hollywood (came along), he didn't have time to live the life he wanted to live," he said. "Audie Murphy was the most dissatisfied boy I've ever seen in my life."

2,000-year-old shoe found in city lot!

Workers at a construction site in downtown London have dug up a shoe more than 2,000 years old!

"It's an incredible archaeological find," said Duncan Lees of the Museum of London. "It gives us an extraordinary glimpse of the Roman citizens who lived and worked here before the birth of Christ.

"The sandal uppers were cut from two or three pieces of leather. Work still has to be done on the scraps to see what type of sandal they are for, but they seem to have been hobnailed leather soles with sandal uppers."

The fascinating find was made during the demolition of a London office structure built in the 1870s.

Lees says further excavation has established that the site was once a Roman industrial area.

"We have uncovered the remains of a shoe workshop and an enormous quantity of leather — the biggest collection of leather waste for the production of Roman footware ever found."

Lees, who is directing the excavation, said timber used by the Romans in buildings was preserved because of the wetness of the site, giving archaeologists an insight into Roman construction methods.

"The find is an archaeologist's dream. The environment the Romans created will tell us a great deal about their early life in England."

ARCHAEOLOGIST Mick Oakley holds a Roman shoe.

Flying manhole cover crushes driver

A man driving to work was killed when a manhole cover crashed through his windshield and slammed into his head.

Cops in Rochester, N.Y., think that another vehicle, perhaps a truck, dislodged the 110-pound, 22-inch sewer lid simply by driving over it. "It just sort of bounced over," said Police Officer Thomas Nagel. It slashed tires on two vehicles before smashing through the car driven by Odis R. Sitton, 57, of Henrietta, N.Y.

"It was a whole series of people being at the wrong place at the wrong time," said Officer Nagel. He said he had never investigated such a bizarre accident before.

The freakish chain of events happened so quickly that Rochester resident Anita Vixby, whose left front tire was blown out by the haywire manhole cover, thought the flying object was a garbage can.

The cover had been changed the day before because the old one was cracked, Officer Nagel said. The investigation has found no problems with the installation of the new cover, he said. "It was changed under established procedures. Everything appeared to be normal at that point."

Officials have ruled out the possibility of an underground explosion. The gas company conducted tests in the area. "We covered all aspects of that first.

"That's the first thing I thought of was a gas explosion," Officer Nagel said. "That would sure send a 110-pound manhole cover flying."

The victim of the tragedy was on his way to work on the construction of a sewer tunnel when the sewer lid killed him.

STARTLED: Belgian anthropologist Franz Brebarti.

Electrifying transformation

Space alien's

The head of a space alien that was shrunken by headhunters over 100 years ago is alive!

That's the claim of Belgian anthropologist Franz Brebarti, who got the head from savages in Borneo in 1986 and has been studying it in his lab in Antwerp ever since.

By RAGAN DUNN in ANTWERP

"The alien's head should be as lifeless as a stone, but it's undergoing an incredible transformation," Dr. Brebarti told newsmen in Antwerp.

"Facial flesh is regenerating. The eyes are softening and actually try to follow light.

"Even more intriguing, the alien's twin brains are now showing signs of electrical activity and high-frequency squeaking noises are being emitted from the mouth.

"It sounds fantastic. But in my studied opinion, the head is acting like a radio beacon, sending messages or a distress signal to its home planet.

"Either that, or the damn thing is growing a new body to replace the one it lost," said Dr. Brebarti.

Indications that the alien's shrunken head was undergoing a transformation first surfaced in July. According to Dr. Brebarti, the baseball-sized head's eyes have turned opaque and waxy pupils appeared. In the days that followed the alien's hard, leathery skin grew supple. And though the creature's lips didn't move, it began to squeak from its mouth. "I was shocked," said the expert. "I consulted a neurosurgeon and he suggested that we conduct tests. That's when we discovered brain waves. They are weak and very erratic but they do exist.

"So where do we go from here? At this point all we can do is watch and wait."

As reported in The NEWS in 1986, Dr. Brebarti recovered the head from savages who claimed to have handed it down generation to generation for over 100 years.

The bald head, large pointed ears and green scaly skin made it clear that the object was extraordinary.

Dr. Brebarti later confirmed that the creature — called "Star Man" by the headhunters — had two brains.

Not surprisingly, news that the shrunken head might be coming back to life touched off a controversy among scientists around the world.

European experts almost universally expressed skepticism.

But Soviet and American researchers demanded immediate access and even enlisted

The Power of the Crystal makes all things possible!

Think of your greatest problems in life. The Power of the Crystal can solve them.

How the Magic of Miracle Power Crystals was discovered

The Miracle Power Crystal is an extremely rare type of rock crystal found only in scattered parts of the western United States. Geologists estimate that it is at least four million years old.

Several years ago, it became fashionable among the rich and famous to use these crystals in custom-made jewelry, along with diamonds, emeralds, rubies, and other precious stones. As a result, the wealthy became owners of Miracle Power Crystals without even knowing it.

They soon noticed, however, that all kinds of wonderful things started happening to them! Some suspected that their new jewelry had something to do with their good fortune—but few guessed that the power really came from the Crystal, and the Crystal alone!

Finally, science perfected super-sensitive instruments that detect the dynamic energy waves given off by the crystals. They oscillate, vibrate and send out electro-magnetic waves that surround the human body and attract Good Luck . . . Money . . . New Friends . . . even Romance.

Think of the things you want most in life that have always seemed out of reach. The Power of the Crystal will bring them to you.

• Do you need money? The vibrant energy waves of your Miracle Power Crystal will make money flow your way. It may come in the form of an unexpected gift or inheritance . . . Or winning the daily double at the track. Or an investment that pays off handsomely. Or in any of a hundred ways. Whatever your need, good luck will come to you!

• Do you have trouble getting ahead. Jobs, promotions, career opportunities will open up as if by magic. Don't be surprised if an idea hits you and you start a business—become your own boss—give orders instead of taking them. Put the good-luck energy of your Miracle Power Crystal to work for you—now.

• Do you have problems making new friends or finding love? The Miracle Power Crystal can bring you true friendship and satisfying love—in a way that will probably surprise you! Be patient—it will come to you!

Once you possess the Miracle Power Crystal, you will experience a tremendous inflow of all the goods of life that most people can only dream about. Power . . . success . . . money . . . GOOD LUCK—all can be yours through the mysterious electromagnetic waves of the Miracle Power Crystal.
